University of Saint Mary Proclaims March 7-11 USM Service Learning Week

Service Learning Fair Recognizes USM's Dedication to Service Learning Service Learning Fair: 4:15 p.m., Tuesday, March 8

(Leavenworth, Kan.)— It could be called a salute to service, or a time for reflection. Either way, the University of Saint Mary Service-Learning Office proudly proclaims March 7-11 USM Service-Learning Week in appreciation of all the accomplished service learning projects the university has completed since the beginning of the academic year. Moreover, to officially kick the week off, a Service-Learning Fair will be held at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday, March 8 in De Paul Library. Community friends are encouraged to discover just what service learning is all about. Admission is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served in the library foyer throughout the fair.

The Service-Learning Fair is a great opportunity to learn more about Saint Mary and service projects. De Paul Library will host stations with professors and students from every major University of Saint Mary department. Professors, staff, students and community partners will share their experience with service learning in a celebration of all their accomplishments.

To highlight the Service-Learning Fair, Mary Tolar, Executive Director of the Kansas Campus Compact, will present a dedication officially marking the week as University of Saint Mary Service-Learning Week. The Kansas Campus Compact is a growing coalition of Kansas colleges and universities established to encourage and support campus engagement in communities.

De Paul Library is located on the northeast side of the University of Saint Mary campus, 4100 S. 4th Street, Leavenworth, Kan. For more information about Service-Learning projects, please call 913-758-6112.
