'How Has Sept. 11 Changed Education?'
USM Lawrence D. Starr Global Studies Institute
To Host Panel-Forum Discussion

7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 11, 2006

(Leavenworth, Kan.)—Just five short years after the fabric of the United States was rocked on Sept. 11, the ripple effect of that day's events has caused virtually every industry in the nation to adapt. From the airline industry to the military, religion to business, the lasting effects remain.

But how has Sept. 11 changed education? The University of Saint Mary Lawrence D. Starr Global Studies Institute will explore this notion during a professor-led panel forum at 7 p.m., Monday, Sept. 11 inside the Saint Mary Social Room, first floor of Saint Mary Hall, USM, 4100 South 4th Street, Leavenworth, Kan. Admission is free and open to the public.

The panel will include professors from seven different USM departments, led in a moderated question and answer style forum. Each professor will discuss how his/her discipline has changed under the umbrella of Sept. 11, and how education can continue to move forward.

For more information, call Dr. Randy Scott at 913-758-6483.

The University of Saint Mary is a private, co-educational applied liberal arts university founded by the Sisters of Charity of Leavenworth. The University of Saint Mary is located at 4100 South 4th Street, Leavenworth, Kan., with additional locations at 11413 Pflumm in Overland Park and inside Providence Medical Center at 8929 Parallel Parkway in Kansas City, Kan.
