

ARE YOU READY FOR THE CHALLENGE?

The Coro Summer internship is an elite program that puts students face to face with Kansas City civic leaders, ranging from mayors to CEOs.

Participants spend the summer in group activities and in individual placements in the government, business, labor, non-profit and media sectors.

It's demanding, intensive and full-time.

It's worth it. Students learn more about themselves and their community than they can learn in a classroom.

Coro alumni have gone on to found their own businesses and nonprofits, pass legislation and serve in top decision-making roles.

As a Coro intern, you'll learn what makes a community tick. From government to nonprofits, labor to business and industry, you'll be given an insider's view of Kansas City...and will learn the skills you'll need to succeed in our community.

This top-notch program will give you the chance to not only learn and observe, but connect with the city around you.

Coro interns receive a stipend of $1,000 for the 10-week summer internship. Park University awards 3 hours academic credit for completing the program and its required assignments.

WHAT IS CORO?

Coro is not an acronym.

It's a word the founders invented, intending it to have its own meaning.

It's a word that connotes leadership, public affairs prestige and learning.

Coro was created in San Francisco in 1942 by two businessmen who saw a need for community leaders to have a broader experience. Civic leaders brought the program to Kansas City in 1975, making it the first in the country to offer a 10-week summer internship in public affairs for college students.

In addition to the Kansas City internship, Coro offers Fellows Programs in San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and New York.

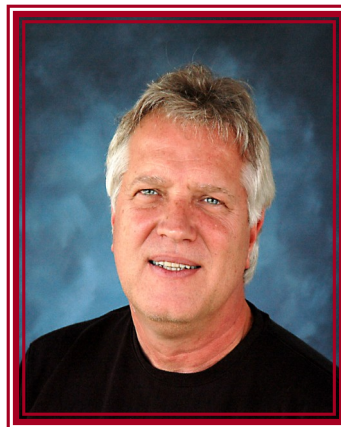

Coro is a private nonprofit and non-partisan, for-credit, educational program offered in partnership with The Center for Leadership at Park University's Hauptmann School for Public Affairs.

CO-DIRECTORS/ FACILITATORS

The Honorable Kay Barnes, former Mayor of Kansas City, Missouri

Don Wise, Leadership Fellow,
Hauptmann School for Public Affairs, Park University

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

Coro Kansas City is open to college juniors, seniors and graduate students from diverse backgrounds/experiences who are bright, self-motivated risk takers committed to public service.

No particular background or major is favored over another. The strongest candidates are actively involved in their schools, communities, neighborhoods and civic or religious organizations.

HOW DO YOU APPLY?

To be a Coro intern, you must submit a completed application. Applications must be received by mid November for internships the following summer. Semi finalists, named in December, must attend a day-long Selection Day, held in Kansas City, in January.
